How to read this report

- Products are matched by barcode (GTIN), then SKU, then brand plus model number, then title similarity. Pairs with conflicting brands, model numbers or sizes are rejected. Only matches at or above 85% confidence are used in comparisons.
- “Price index” is the average competitor price over matched products with your price set to 100. Below 100 means the competitor is cheaper.
- Stock is shown only when a site publishes it. Otherwise it is reported as unknown. Exact stock counts are rarely public.
- Prices are as shown to an anonymous visitor at collection time and can differ by region, login or cookies.
- Advertising: only the presence of ad tags and links to the public ad libraries are provided. Ad spend, impressions and creatives are not collected.
- Social: only YouTube channel statistics are collected, and only when a channel is linked from the homepage and a YouTube API key is configured.
- Offers and policies are read from homepage and policy text with pattern matching and can miss or misread unusual wording.
